"European Trade Fair for Packaging, Technology and Processing"

FACHPACK is one of the main events in Europe for companies that produce and use packaging. It has been held in Nuremberg for over 40 years. The packaging fair provides a compact but comprehensive insight into all relevant topics from the packaging industry. This includes solutions for product packaging for industrial and consumer goods, packaging aids and packaging materials, but also for packaging production, packaging technology, logistics and packaging systems or printing.

FACHPACK perceives itself as a guide, and aims to offer direction to the sector. The new key theme for 2024 is therefore devoted to the powerful trends currently impacting on the packaging industry.

Sustainability is demanded not only by law but also by consumers – and that is making far-reaching changes to the industry. Subjects such as the circular economy, digitalization and e-commerce add to the mix.
